MORMONISM.

A work by Mrs. Stenhouse, entitled "A Lady's Life among the Mormons," has just been published, and excites considerable attention. We find some extracts in the New York papers:

After an extended account of the life and Mormon labors of Mrs. Stenhouse and her husband she proceeds to relate how the great ordeal of giving her husband a second wife was passed through:

As the time approached for me to do this, I felt like a condemned felon in his cell waiting in agony the day of his execution. I knew that my husband suffered also, now that it was so near; for he necessarily saw that it would make a great change in his future life. His freedom was gone. The dreaded day at length arrived. As may well be supposed, I had passed a very wakeful and unhappy night, and I felt very sick and nervous; for I was soon to become a mother, and it seemed to me that I had not the courage to go through that day.

However, I nerved myself to the task, and silently made my preparations for going to the "Bodiment House." The morning was bright and lovely, and calculated to inspire joyous hopes and happy feelings. To me it brought nothing but fear and trembling. I could not even trust myself to speak to my children, for I was choking with suppressed emotion; and they, not knowing how deeply I was suffering, looked at me with wonder in their innocent eyes. "Oh!" I thought, "surely my husband will at last understand the depth of the love I bear him, for were it not that he believes the doctrine to be true. I would even now dash this bitter cup from my eyes!" There was a darkness before my eyes, and, struggling as I might, I could see no ray of light, no glimmering of hope. I was utterly cast down and broken-hearted, and felt almost as if the Lord had forsaken me. I could not go to my husband for sympathy; for I felt that his thoughts were with his young bride, and that my sorrows would only worry him at a time when he must desire to be at peace. The time at length arrived for us to go to the "Bodiment House," and there at the altar the first wife is expected to give proof of her faith in her religion by placing the hand of the new wife in that of her husband. She is asked the question by Brigham Young, "Are you willing to give this woman to your husband, to be his lawful and wedded wife, for time and for all eternity? If you are, you will manifest it by placing her right hand within the right hand of your husband." I did so. But what words can describe my feelings? The anguish of a whole lifetime was crowded into that one single moment. When it was done, I felt that I had laid everything upon the altar, and that there was no more to sacrifice. What more could the Lord require of me that I could not do?

The following is Mrs. Stenhouse's account of BRIGHAM'S WIVES.

Very extravagant statements have been published of the number of Brigham Young's wives and children. How many he has had from the time he courted Miss Martha Brotherton, until now, it would be difficult to estimate. Some of his wives are dead; others have left him, and many probably have been sealed to him who strayed away like those of Brother Heber, and he knew not whither they went. Of Brigham's present family I am acquainted with nineteen of his wives. Before he was a Mormon he had a wife and family, but of that lady I know nothing. Two of her daughters are in Utah. His Mormon family begins with his first legal wife, who is still living—Mrs. Mary Ann Angel Young. She is probably about his own age, but is physically less preserved, and looks much older. She is a most excellent and amiable lady, and bears traces of having had her full share of earthly troubles. She is the mother of three prominent sons—Joseph A., Brigham, Jr., John W., and two daughters—Alice and Luna. Each of the sons has three wives. The first daughter is the third of four wives in a polygamist household. The other daughter is the first wife of a young man, and has for a companion wife her father's daughter by another mother. The eldest daughter, Alice, has also her half-sister as an associate wife in her husband's household.

The legal wife of Brigham Young is: I, Mrs. Mary Ann Angel. His polygamist wives are: II, Mrs. Clara Decker, III, Mrs. Lucy Decker, (sisters); IV, Mrs. Emeline Free; V, Mrs. Harriet Cook; VI, Mrs. Twiss; VII, Mrs. Eliza Burgess; VIII, Mrs. Susan Sargey; IX, Mrs. Lucy Bigelow; X, Mrs. Harriet Barneveld; XI, Mrs. Maria Bowker; XII, Mrs. Margaret Pierce; XIII, Mrs. Amelia Folsom; XIV, Mrs. Mary Van Cott Cobb; XV, Mrs. Eliza Ann Webb. His "proxy" wives are: XVI, Mrs. Emily Partridge; XVII, Mrs. Zina B. Huntington Jacobs; XVIII, Mrs. Eliza R. Snow. [These were formerly "sealed" to Joseph Smith, and are now "proxy" wives to Brigham.] Also—XIX, Mrs. Augusta Cobb, [who was "sealed" to Joseph Smith since his death.] Besides these there were very likely to be other ladies "sealed" to Brigham, but I myself know personally no more than the above named.

Mrs. Stenhouse's narrative is the first really authentic account of Mormonism we have yet had. Her husband is well known to the New York press, and both she and he were for years engaged in the building up of the Mormon system.
